ACADEMY

MERCERSBURG,
PENNA.

FOREWORD

Nineteen-hundred forty-five and forty-six mark the year of victory in World War II and the general return of America to more peace time pursuits. In like manner the period has been a more normal period in the history of The Mercersburg Academy. In presenting the fifty-third volume of the KARUX, the Board has sought to picture the return against the background of the war years, years of uncertainty, elation and sorrow, defeat and victory. A crowded school is the school of days of peace, but it has been a difficult period due to wartime scarcity. To depict this background in part and as a token of honor toward those who have served nation and school, the Board has taken the art motif from the Bassett sketches made during World War I, and in doing this the Board has sought to portray in part the continuity of Mercersburg high ideals and glorious traditions whether in war or in peace.

This Fifty-third Volume of
THE MERCERSBURG ACADEMY
Is Affectionately Dedicated.

To have served an institution over a quarter of a century is an honor and a privilege, and to have served graciously, faithfully, and with distinction is the honor and privilege of these two masters. As a token of appreciation the Class of 1946 pays this well-deserved tribute.

Armistice Day 1945

TO THE GOLD STAR BOYS OF MERCERSBURG:

You may have died in Mexico a century ago or, later, at Bull Run or Gettysburg. Whether you fought for the North or for the South does not now matter, although it seemed to then. Was it an Indian arrow that found you on the Western plains, or did you fall on the slope at San Juan Hill? Perhaps you died at Belleau Wood, or in the tangled forest of the Argonne. The Mercersburg you knew is much more beautiful today, and boys still work and play as you used to do.

From the First World War, fifty-six did not come home, and some still sleep beyond the seas. Sixteen of you were boyhood friends of mine. I often wonder what kind of men you would have been, and whether your sons, had you lived, would now be among my boys at Mercersburg. Did you feel as I did in that great conflict—that if we did not return, it did not matter, for through our going men would learn never again to wage a war?

How it grieved Dr. and Mrs. Irvine when word came that you had gone! Long since, they and Dr. Edwards have joined you and, I know, are again looking after you.

Twenty years went by, and our youthful hopes were not fulfilled. Once, again, for men were not wise, the boys of Mercersburg went forth to war. This time nearly eighty of you will not return, among you six of my own boys whom I knew so well short months ago. Guadalcanal, New Guinea, North Africa, Italy, Guam, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Leyte, Okinawa, Luzon, in a training camp at home, or in nameless locations at sea—these are where this time you died.

On each Armistice Day we shall think of you, and read your names, and honor you, as you heard it done for the boys of the First World War. To your mothers and fathers and families, who had such high hopes and ambitions for you, we give our profound and reverent sympathy. We thank you for what you have done, for you saved America from those who would have destroyed her. Because of you, boys may still come to Mercersburg to school.

In the First War, when someone died, we said he had “gone West.” Do you remember the sunsets at Mercersburg, when colors filled the sky above and beyond the Western mountains? Did you think of them in that last hour before the God of Battles touched you and marked you for his own? For I am sure you are there, “out West,” waiting for those you loved, and those who loved you, to join you in the beauty and the glory of the setting sun.

AUGUST SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The August Senior Class will remember their year at Mercersburg for a multitude of reasons. The foremost of these is the end of the great world conflict which has held its grip on us for almost four years. We have witnessed during our senior year the fall of both Germany and Japan. Already five members of our class are in the armed forces and probably more of us will be in the service in the near future.

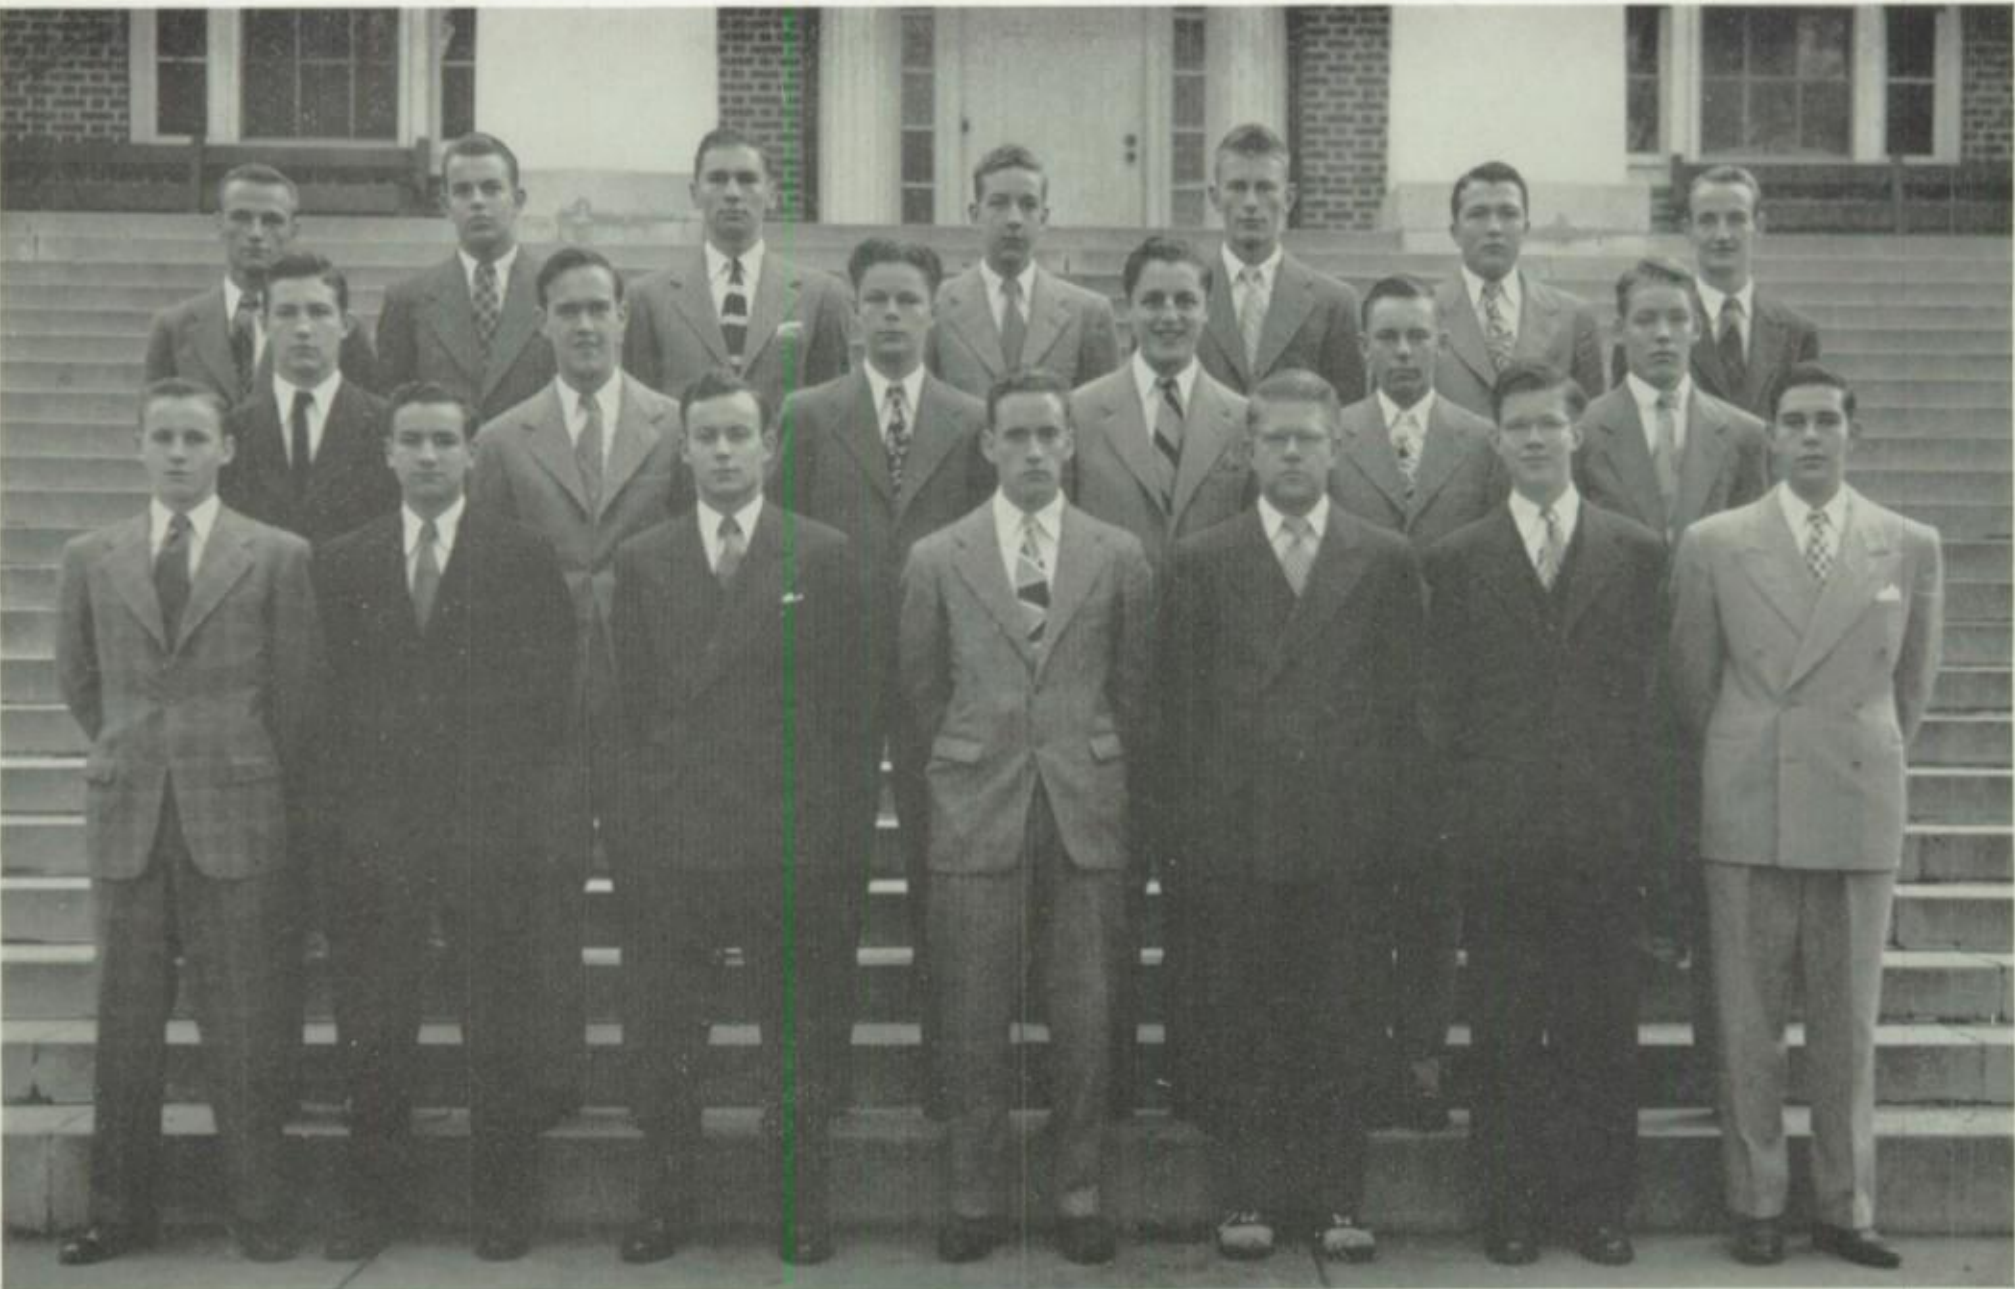

Here at Mercersburg we have gained something that is invaluable to us now and will become more meaningful as time passes. We have made many friends, both in the Faculty and in the student body. Through the Head Master and the members of the Faculty, the task of learning has been made easier and more pleasant for us, and we have begun to appreciate the varied advantages life has to offer.

Although we are but eighteen strong, our class has represented itself with pride in most of the extra-curricular activities around the school. The Senate, honorary language clubs, varsity athletic teams and the Stony Batter Club reflect just a few of our accomplishments.

To Dr. and Mrs. Tippetts we extend our deep and sincere thanks for all they have done for us. We have appreciated no end the coffee-pourings they have planned for us each Monday evening. To the Faculty we express our thanks for the consideration they have shown us. To Mr. Smith, our Class Adviser, we wish to express our gratitude.

We fully realize how heavy will be the burden that our class and our generation must meet correcting the existing wrongs of this war-torn world and therefore with this in mind, we go forth to accept the challenge of creating for mankind a more peaceful and prosperous future.

WILLIAM DONALD WIRTH,
Historian.

JANUARY SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Back in the summer of 1945 a January Senior Class of 1946 was formed. Originally, it was the purpose of the membership to complete their secondary education and receive the greatest amount of schooling possible before being called into the armed services.

Now, since the end of World War II, the aims of the members must take a new course. As the first peace-time graduating class since 1941, instead of waging war, it faces the no less difficult task of helping to secure a lasting peace.

To this end, the January Senior Class of 1946 pledges itself to encourage, in every way possible, the statesmen who have the task of organizing the world for peace, fully realizing that only through unselfishness, untiring effort and a determination to carry out the Will of God—"Good Will Toward All Men"—can a lasting peace be established.

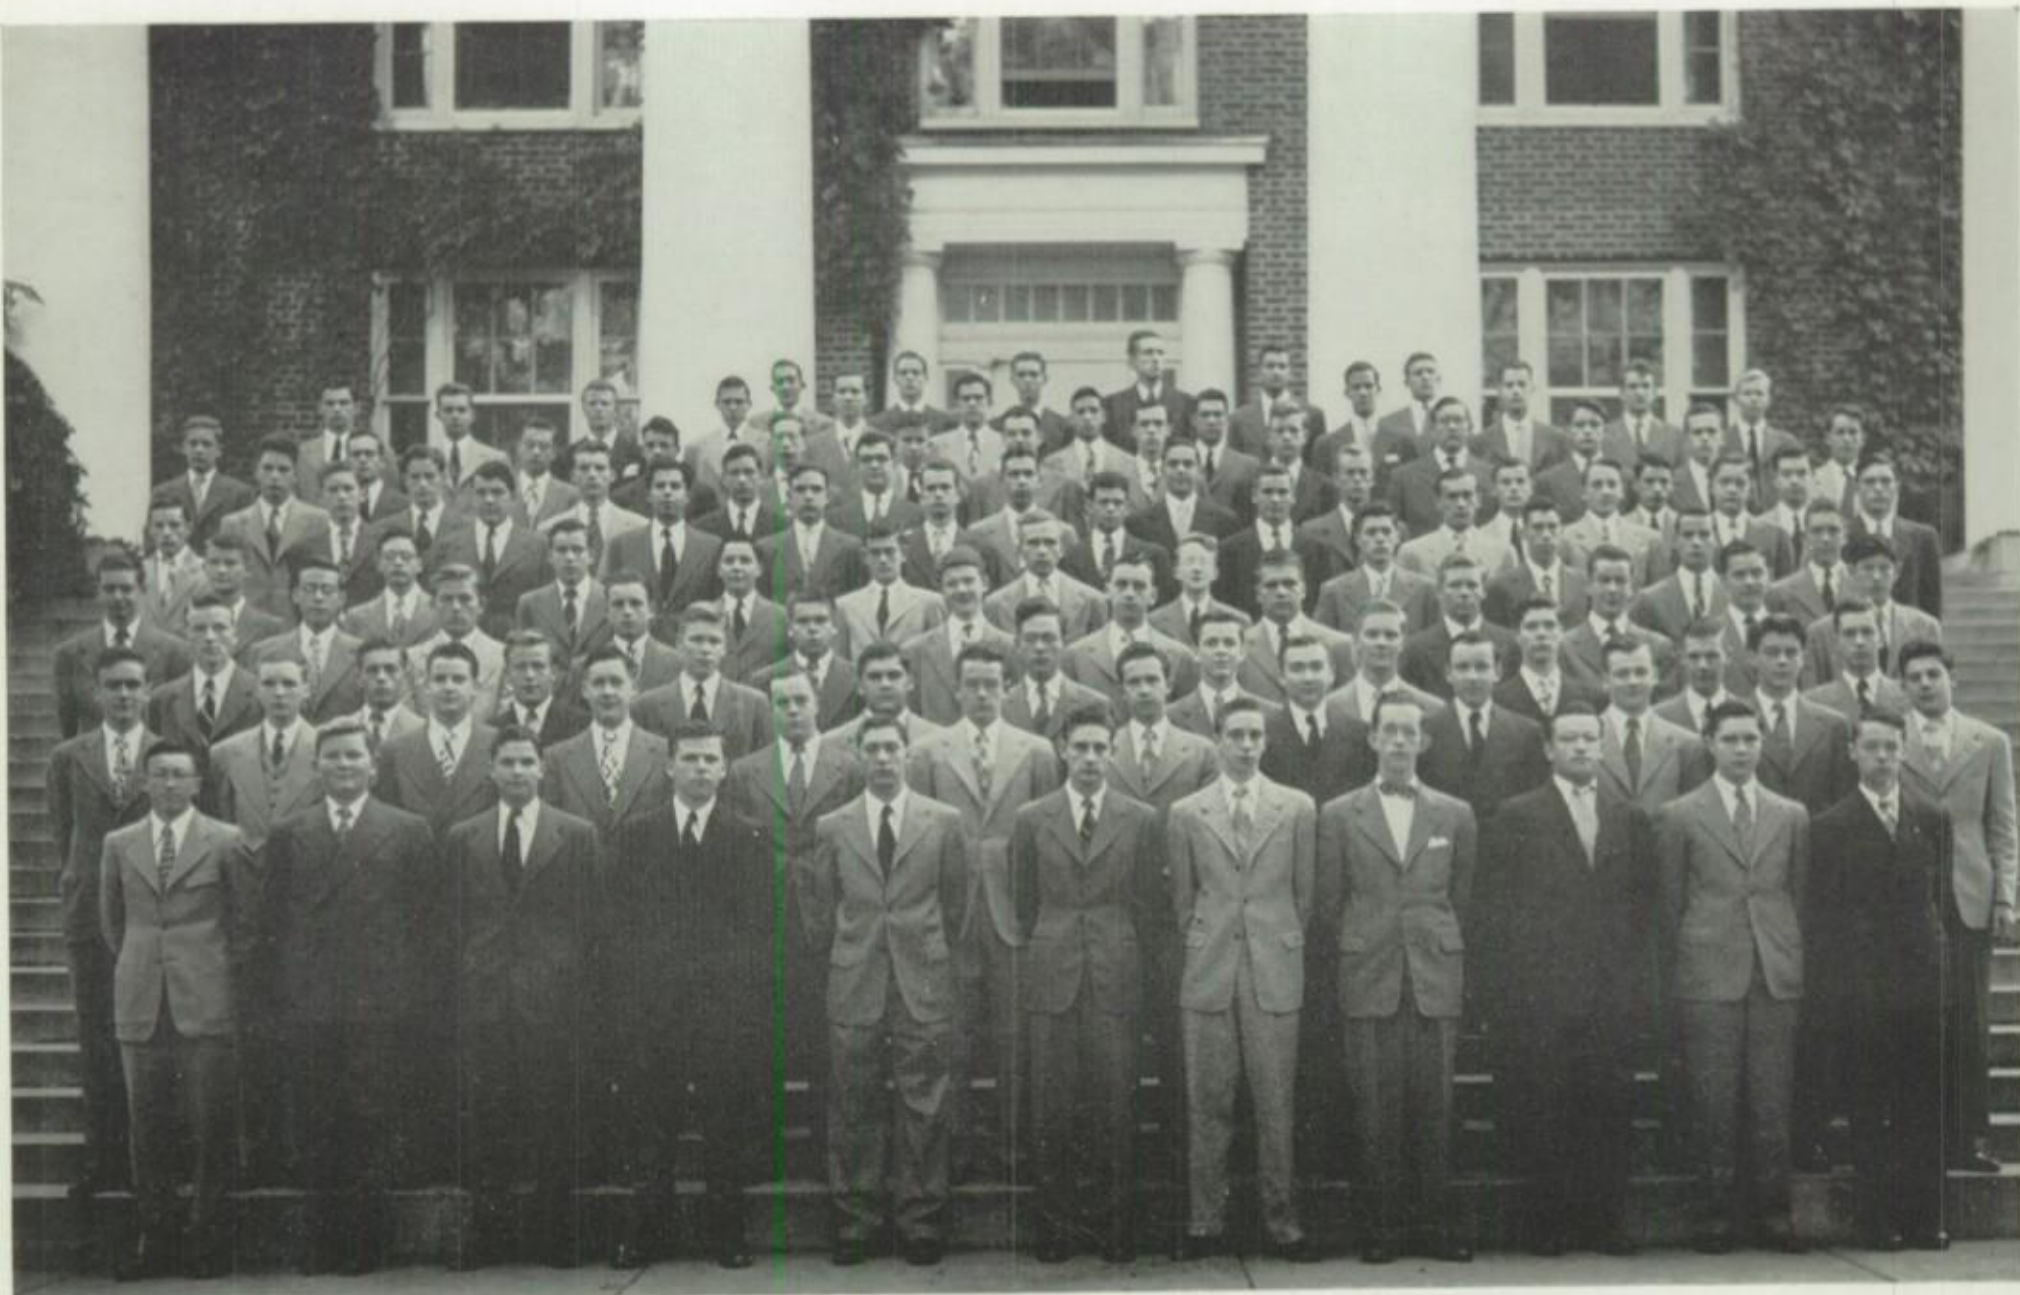

This, probably the last group of boys to be graduated in January, has a mere seventeen members. Though it is one of the Academy's smallest senior classes in history, its members are represented in nearly every athletic and extra-curricular activity. Many of its members hold offices in these organizations. The class claims the distinction of being quite colorful and at the same time has attained and supported a high scholastic standing.

It is with deep gratitude to the faculty and administration for their unselfishness and patience that this class passes on to join many thousand Mercersburg alumni. There is a sincere hope that the records and achievements of this class may be comparable to the accomplishments of those who have gone before them. Thus, the members of the January Senior Class of 1946 part, giving assurance that each of its members will pause many, many times to think, "How much Mercersburg has meant to me."

JUNE SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

With the cessation of hostilities on the numerous, far-flung battlefields of the world, the youth of America today is confronted with the omnipresent problem of the struggle for permanent peace, which looms as an obstacle in man's striving towards a better world to live in. It is with the strong realization of this fact foremost in our minds, that the June Seniors of 1946 emerge from the portals of our beloved institution onto the threshold of greater challenges in the field of learning. To meet this challenge we go forth after four years at this school, better prepared, morally, physically, and intellectually.

It is impossible for one to mention the subject of Mercersburg sports without a great deal of deserved credit falling to the Senior class, for it was through the outstanding support of members of our class that the various teams were able to achieve such brilliant records. The backbone of the football teams was composed of hard-fighting members of our class, and it was through the efforts of a number of Seniors that the basketball team made such a fine showing. On the baseball diamond our class was well represented, composing the majority of the well-formed squad. The long years to come will never erase from our minds the memories of tense athletic contests which greatly added to the enjoyment of life here at Mercersburg, and this year will challenge the rest of the school to greater efforts.

As we continue to glance back into the records set by the Senior class, we become aware that our achievements were not limited to the fields of athletics, but that we were also prominent in the many honor organizations of this school. Members of this class presided over the meetings of the language and science clubs, and the "Fifteen", Mercersburg's honorary English group. By examining the High Honor Roll each marking period, one can see that members of our class did their share in maintaining the high scholastic record of this school.

Finally, turning to the extra-curricular activities, we are overcome with astonishment at the number of Seniors who participated in these activities which are so vital to the smooth running of a school such as Mercersburg. The "News", the KARUX, and the "Lit", which represent the student publications, were headed completely by Seniors, who were backed by the support of numerous other members of our class. The music organizations of Mercersburg were formed by a majority of Seniors, whose skill in the art of music is difficult to overrate. In all, it is safe to state that the class of 1946 has in all ways upheld the tradition of participation in all the walks of school life which those who passed through this institution before us so well set.

With deep appreciation in our hearts we express our sincerest thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Tippetts and to the members of the faculty for the invaluable assistance they have given us in preparing to take our places in the various walks of life. We can never repay completely the debt that we owe to these people without whose guidance we could never have reached the goal of this week. In our hearts we shall always retain a deeply-felt obligation for what they have helped us to accomplish.

May the school members who follow be aware of that obligation, and always seek to uphold the motto of "Hard work, fair play, clean life." We all can do no less.

GORDON ALAN EVANS, Historian.

ROBERT A. WINTERS

HEAD MASTER'S VALEDICTORY

TO THE CLASSES OF 1946:

Eighteen of you were graduated in January, our last mid-winter class. Over one hundred will receive diplomas in June, and eighteen more will finish their careers at Mercersburg in August. You are our last classes to be graduated under our war-time accelerated program.

The second World War is over and you are fortunate for you do not have to look forward to fighting on the various fronts. Since 1940 until this year, Mercersburg boys have been leaving to enter service. Many of them will not return. Just as those boys made a contribution to the winning of the War, you must make yours to the winning of the peace.

The war is over but its effects will long remain. Peoples everywhere have suffered deeply, millions are hungry and in rags, national jealousies are rising again all over the world. We had hoped we had learned our lesson for once and for all. But, it was not to be.

We must bring order out of chaos, and starving men, women, and children must be fed. For misery makes men turn to those who promise the most and encourages violence in all its forms.

Your country is a great world power, one of the greatest of all time. This means that she has responsibilities and obligations, which she cannot avoid if she is to remain as great as you wish her to be.

So as you leave this school, prepare yourselves to be leaders in our new and daring adventures in world affairs. Learn all you can about other lands and to understand them, their history, their customs, and their traditions.

As a Mercersburg boy in uniform wrote recently from abroad, "It is much more important to understand the French than to understand French itself." Only by doing this for all countries, can lasting peace come to a weary and distracted world.

Your school will be judged by what you do. We are proud of you now. Make us equally proud of you in the years ahead.

CHARLES S. TIPPETTS.

FACULTY CHANGES

With the opening of the Spring Term of the Academy some faculty changes were made which could not be placed in the main copy of the KARUX. Mr. Henry Ready, who has been in the Army since 1944 returned to his work as Director of the Music Department. By the time the yearbook comes from the press the Concert Band will be revived and other work carried forward which had been temporarily given up for the school year.

Mr. Frederick Kuhn, who has been acting Head of the Athletic Department, was given a leave of absence in April, and Mr. Herbert M. Kempton took over the duties of that department. Mr. Charles R. Hurst has taken Mr. Kuhn's place as varsity baseball coach, and Mr. Ralph Klinefelter will direct the javees. Mr. Kempton has also taken charge of Laucks Hall in place of Mr. Kuhn, and has been assisted by Mr. Paul Anderson.

UPPER MIDDLE CLASS HISTORY

In their Upper Middler year the Class of 1947 compiled a memorable and enviable record. Members of the class were on practically all the athletic teams, literary publications, and honorary scholastic societies. The names of 12 boys appeared on the high honor roll, while 35 appeared on the first and second honor rolls.

During the fall three members of the class were in the starting lineup for football while several others were also on the varsity squad. The Blue and White was upheld by quite a few on the Jayvee or Spider aggregations. The soccer team was ably captained by our president with others earning their letters. The cross-country team had some representatives of our class.

The Winter Sports teams — wrestling, basketball and swimming — had many Upper Middler athletes on the starting line-up or as reserves. Undoubtedly the spring teams will again consist of participants from the class.

In literary talent the class is well stocked. Many future journalists from the class are getting excellent training on our school publications — the "News," the KARUX, and the "Lit."

The class is ably represented in the field of extra-curricular activities. The more brilliant scholars were appointed to membership in the various honorary scholastic societies. Others from our midst voluntarily joined clubs whose purpose coincides with the member's avocation or future vocation. Many another took advantage of the musical experience to be gained by joining the various musical organizations of our school. Three members of the class are acquiring the wealth of speaking experience and ability to be enjoyed by upholding the honor of their preferred societies in the Annual Mid-Winter Debate.

LOWER MIDDLE CLASS HISTORY

We of the Lower Middler Class of 1945-1946 consider our class to be one of the most important in the school; we consider it up to us to carry on the high standards of Mercersburg.

Even two years before graduation the class has shown itself to be high in both scholastic and athletic activities. The Honor Roll is always seen with the names of several Lower Middlers on it. These boys are more than a credit to their class; they will be among the ones eligible "Cum Laude" in their senior year.

This fall several members of the class were on the varsity football team. In the winter there were members on the basketball and swimming teams; a good part of the wrestling team was made up of Lower Middlers. In the spring, members may be found in all the sports. Having been placed on these teams, the Lower Middlers, in their senior year, will make the great teams that Mercersburg is famous for.

Aside from athletic activities our class is represented in other functions of the school. Several boys have been chosen for the Stony Batter Dramatic Club; thus showing that the class has acting ability among its number. Our class has its representatives writing on the "News," the "Lit," and the KARUX boards. In the honorary language clubs, the hobby clubs, and with the Chapel Ushers and Choir may be found a great number of Lower Middlers. Many are on the Projection Crew who bring the school its Saturday evening entertainment.

We of the Lower Middler Class are tremendously proud of the record we have set, and in the following two years we have left at Mercersburg, we will endeavor to live up to the school motto, "Hard Work, Fair Play, and Clean Living".

Historian.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

This year the Junior Class numbers forty-eight and although the smallest class in the school, the members are already playing an active part in the life of the Academy. The dormitory masters, Coach Frederick Kuhn and Commander Herbert M. Kempton, have guided the boys into becoming useful members of the school. Most of the boys belong to at least one or more of the clubs in the school.

As Laucks Hall, the Junior dormitory, is too small to meet the needs of all the Junior Class, some of the boys have to live in other buildings. This, however, does not dampen the friendship between them. The members of this youngest class are looking forward to the time when they will become the leaders of Mercersburg.

SENATE

For the purpose of promoting a feeling of closer relationship among students, faculty members, and the Administration, the Mercersburg Senate was created in 1905. Election to this student government body is, perhaps, the highest honor that any student can achieve, and it is to be highly prized and coveted. Included in the organization are ten regular student members, four faculty members, the Head Master, and occasionally a few honorary student members, who have been appointed by the Head Master because of outstanding abilities after all of the regular positions have been filled. Through this group the student body of the Academy may express their feelings in relation to the life of the school, while the Senate, in turn, relates these feelings to the Administration, after deliberation over their advisability, where they are given careful consideration.

At least once each week the body convenes in the Senate room to discuss such suggestions for improvement as may be presented, as well as to deal with a few disciplinary cases. It is through this method that many of the privileges which the students now enjoy were obtained.

The method by which these boys are elected provides an excellent cross-section which is pleasing to all. Two upper middlemen and one lower middleman are elected by the student body; one student is elected by the faculty members of the Senate, while another is elected by the incoming Senate; two members are elected by the faculty as a whole; another two are appointed by the Head Master, and the final one is elected by the outgoing senior class. In such a manner both students and faculty have equal say in the election of the governing body.

In addition to the regular winter session Senate there was a summer school Senate consisting of three members, which were appointed by Dr. Tippetts.

CUM LAUDE SOCIETY

Membership in the Cum Laude Society is one of the highest honors to be obtained by the members of the Senior Class, and may be granted to those in the first twenty percent of their class, provided each has been a member of the Student Body two years at the time of graduation or a Senior completing final fourth year course only at Mercersburg. Two members were elected in August, two in January, and eleven in April of the three Senior Classes of this year's KARUX. The final initiation will take place at the June Commencement Exercises of the Class.

Those members of the Academy Faculty who are members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, the honorary scholastic society of the college world, and several executive officers of the school were accorded charter membership in the Academy Chapter or have been elected since the establishment of the Mercersburg unit.

ES COPAINS

Membership of Les Copains includes those in second-year and third-year French who show special interest and ability. They meet at dinner once a month in a local restaurant; songs are sung and a short talk is given. In January the club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Tippetts at North Cottage, and Miss Katherine Tippetts spoke in French on conditions of Arab life in North Africa, where she had been stationed during the War as a lieutenant in the W.A.C.

HAPEL USHERS

Chapel ushering during the school year is done by a group of ushers and two alternate ushers under the direction of Mr. David F. Chapman, who is assisted by Mr. Robert M. Goff. Appointment to the ushering staff is made after try-outs in the spring. The final selection is made by Mr. Chapman and the out going board. The ushers handle all Sunday services as well as all other services in the Chapel.

UN CLUB

The members of the Academy's popular Gun Club, under the able supervision of the faculty adviser, Mr. Norris Grabill, meet at the traps on Saturday mornings to practice shooting at clay pigeons. For a while the shortage of ammunition and other supplies hampered the activities of the group, but recent increase in shells has spurred the members to even greater activity. However, the shortage was more than made up for, when Mr. Grabill took some of the boys deer hunting in the nearby mountains last fall.

ENTERTAINMENT USHERS

Entertainment Ushers, under the direction of Mr. Robert Goff, acted in that capacity at all entertainments presented in the Assembly Hall or Gymnasium during the school year. Mr. Goff appointed in the fall Alfred G. Hemmerich as Head Entertainment Usher. Five other members of the student body, recommended by Hemmerich and approved by Mr. Goff, composed the remainder of this group. Entertainments given in the Chapel were handled by the Chapel staff.

DANCE COMMITTEE

This year's Dance Committee, appointed by Mr. Robert M. Goff, faculty adviser, was composed of seven members of the student body. The selection of the Orchestras and the arranging for the formal and informal dances of the school is carried out by the committee. It also assists in maintaining the excellent deportment on these pleasant occasions. A temporary Dance Committee is appointed for the first tea dance of the year, and at a later date the permanent one is chosen. In the Fall Term during October they held the first dance in the Assembly Hall. On February 22, 1946, they engaged "Red" McCarthy's Orchestra to play for the Mid-winter formal dance in Keil Hall. For the annual Commencement event for the final week-end it was planned at the time when the KARUX went to press, to have a "name" band as the feature attraction.

ADUCEAN CLUB

The medical club of the school is fast becoming one of the leading school organizations in its third year as a campus society. Under the very able leadership of its faculty adviser, Dr. Lewis H. Hitzrot, the Academy physician, and Henry M. deButts and G. William Stultz, Jr., presidents, many students gain a valuable knowledge of medicine useful to them in later life. Meetings are held monthly in the choir room of the chapel, where lectures are given by Dr. Hitzrot and by various medical men, and where discussions pertaining to medicine are given by the members.

DEBATING STORY

Characteristic of the American college of the early decades of the 19th century was the literary society, and when Marshall College was established at Mercersburg in 1836, two such societies were formed—Goethean and Diagnothian. These were transplanted to Lancaster, when Marshall joined with Franklin and became Franklin and Marshall College, but from the sixties of the century the two literary societies now at Mercersburg have flourished. These are the Washington Irving Literary Society founded in 1865 and John Marshall Literary Society founded in 1866. The college moved in the spring of 1853, but the seminary and preparatory department remained.

At the time Dr. Irvine took over the control of the Mercersburg Academy, he gave to debating a new life which has continued till this day. When Keil Hall was built, the annual debates were held in that room till 1929. The previous year one of the huge chandeliers had fallen during the streamer fight after the debate proper, and Dr. Edwards, the new Head Master, was unwilling to allow such an event to happen again. No damage occurred, but there had always been the possibility of such. Now the debate is held in the main room of the Gymnasium. The two societies are divided, Marshall on the right, Irving on the left, and guests between in "No Man's Land."

The school is divided into the two groups, and each boy in school works his way up to "Proper." The lowest groups are called "Scrub." Promotion is based on excellence of work in "scrub" debates. The next step is "Prelim," with the final goal "Proper." In the annual debates Irving has won twenty-three times to twenty-two for Marshall. Spirit of rivalry is strong, and next to being a Mercersburg alumnus is the pride of being a member of one or the other society.

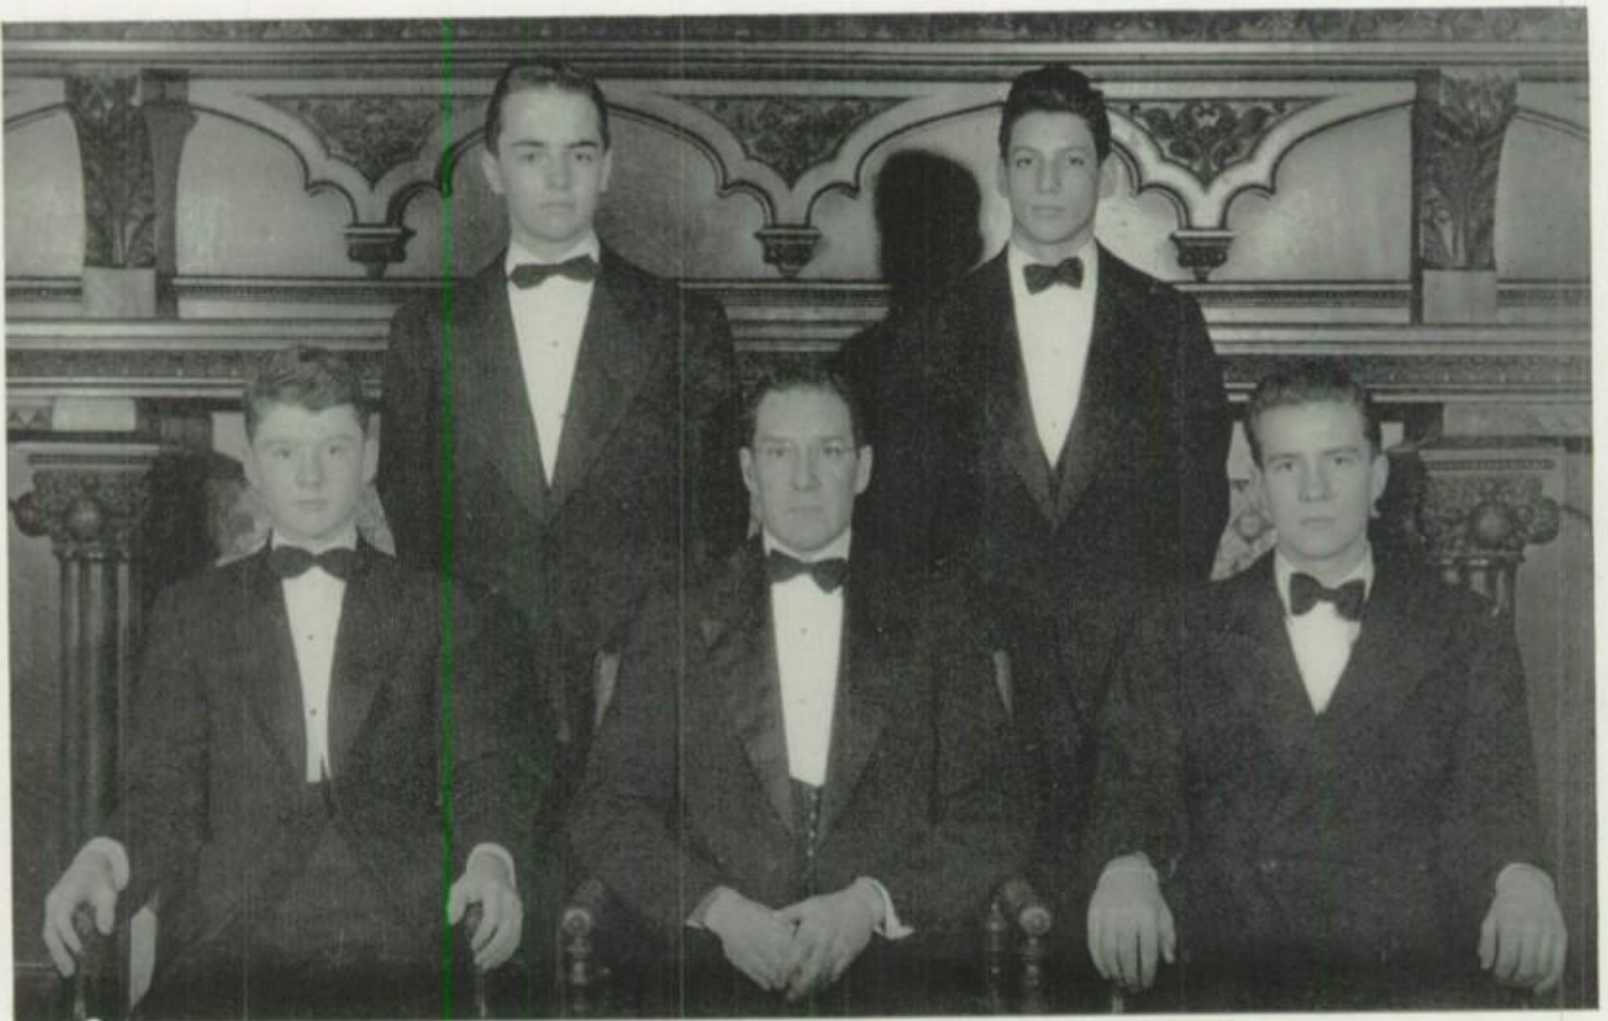

WASHINGTON IRVING SOCIETY

Eighty-one years ago, in 1865, when Marshall College was located here at Mercersburg, the Washington Irving Literary Society was founded. From that time until the present day this organization has stood for the highest ideals and standards of the Mercersburg boy, as is shown in the motto of "Clean Life, Hard Work, Fair Play."

Thirty-six years later, in 1901, the inter-society debate was first organized, and since its establishment, Irving has produced twenty-three out of a possible forty-five winning teams, in addition to twenty-one of the Best Speaker Awards. This year the society spirit hit its peak during the Mid-Winter Week-End, when Irving swept three out of four of the possible events of intersociety competition, winning the basketball game, the Best Speaker Award, and the Debate, but losing to Marshall in the swimming meet.

The Society will always remain grateful to Mr. Grey H. Wyman, who assumed the post of Irving Faculty Adviser four years ago, and without whose patience, keenness, loyalty, and enthusiasm, the winning of the debate would have been impossible.

JOHN MARSHALL SOCIETY

Founded in the year of 1866, one year after the Washington Irving Society held its first meeting, the John Marshall Literary Society has since that time upheld its motto, "Hold Fast to That Which Is Good," emerging victor in twenty-two of the forty-five debates held since 1901, and always retaining its enthusiasm through victory and defeat.

Named after the late John Marshall, who was for thirty-four years the third Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, the Marshall Society was originally a part of the Marshall College. Although the Marshall College is now the Mercersburg Academy, the Marshall Society continues to function as one of the two Literary societies of the Academy.

The rivalry between these two societies has always been great and is climaxed with the annual mid-winter debate, held in February. Those members of the debating team are rewarded for their labors by gaining valuable experience in public speaking, and many alumni who have had the honor of being a member of the debating team, have spoken highly of the experience it has given them.

The debaters of the Marshall Literary Society are guided by the ever-helpful Mr. Frank E. Currier, who has been serving as the faculty adviser for the last four years.

NEWS

Comprising a lasting record of Mercersburg life scholastic, social and athletic, the Mercersburg "News" contains all events which take place during the school year. Much credit for the great success of the paper goes to Mr. Bryan Barker, Editorial Adviser, and Mr. Robert R. Black, Business Adviser, whose tireless efforts have been outstanding in their work toward the completion and success of this organization during the past year.

Deserving special praise is this year's Editor-in-Chief, Thomas G. McLellan, whose capable leadership and untiring efforts have made possible another great publication of the "News." Much credit for the paper's great success must also go to Associate Editor Arthur J. May, Jr., Sports Editor Richard D. Lemmerman, Feature Editor Thomas G. Roulette, Proof Editor James M. Hitzrot, II, Business Manager Paul V. Rogers, Jr., Circulation Manager Howard Cohen, and Exchange Editor Richard C. Hoffman. Recently added was the cartoonist staff which has added much humor to the "News."

Due credit must also be given to the reporters, business staff and associates, photographers, cartoonists, and all who have lent their services to this work. Without them the publication of the "News" would have been impossible. The winning of the "Medalist" rating in the Columbia contest is evidence of the high standard of work.

LIT

Mercersburg's literary magazine, the "Lit," published once a month, contains resumes of short stories, poems, and book reviews, all of which are written by the students of Mercersburg Academy. Under the capable supervision of Mr. Harry F. Smith, this organization has gained distinction and admiration from all its reading audience. If a student wishes to become a member of the board, he must first prove himself an expert theme-writer, and in that way he may obtain a position on the "Lit" Board. There is no doubt that this publication is one of the best which the Academy has published in recent years.

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

MERCERSBURG ACADEMY CALENDAR

Each fall the "Mercersburg Academy Calendar," which was first started as a project to aid in the building of the Academy Chapel and which made possible as the first objective the Ralph Talbot Memorial Window, is published under the direction of Mr. David F. Chapman. This publication was so successful and popular with the students and friends of the Academy that it has been published ever since. Whatever profit there is now obtained through the sale of the "Calendar" is turned over to an art fund, and portraits of many who have been responsible for the present school have been presented to the school. Through the fund each generation of student body is indirectly able to participate in a movement which enriches the traditions of the school.

Y. M. C. A. HANDBOOK

The Y. M. C. A. Handbook, sometimes called the "New Boys' Bible," is presented to each member of the school at the beginning of the fall term and contains a brief resume of the school activities, directors, history of the surrounding country, songs, and cheers. This book, published by Mr. Daniel Heefner and Mr. Milo A. Gibson, is carefully studied by all new boys more than any other book at the opening of school.

ALUMNI QUARTERLY

A vital means of establishing contact with the group of over seven thousand alumni of the Academy is the office of Alumni Secretary, and no small part in establishing that contact is the Alumni Quarterly, which is published four times a year under the capable editorship of Mr. Daniel Heefner, the Alumni Secretary of the school. Accounts of important events at the school, the activity of the Headmaster and faculty, and the advancements of the Alumni are recorded in the pages of the publication. This year the Secretary has carefully recorded the war record of alumni in service.

CATALOGUE AND VIEW BOOK

The Academy "Catalogue" and "View Book" are edited by Mr. James G. Miller, Academy Registrar. These are published each year and sent to the prospects of the Mercersburg Academy, as they tell of the life and activities at the school.

HAPEL CHOIR

Visitors at Mercersburg are probably most impressed by the beautiful Gothic Chapel. The organization which adds much dignity and inspiration to the exquisite services held in the Chapel, is the Chapel Choir, under the direction of organist and choirmaster, Mr. George F. Hamer, Jr.

It is, indeed, a high distinction to be a member of this organization, since the members are selected through stiff competition. During the Offertory, according to custom, the Choir sings both ancient and modern anthems. At the beginning of each service, the procession of choristers led by the Crucifer begins in the Narthex and the second half of the procession, led by the Flag Bearer, includes the Guest Preacher and the Head Master.

The full beauty of the Choir's singing is not realized until the Recessional, when they sing the last verse of the hymn in the ante-chamber. There the choir alone sings, and the distance adds enchantment to the music of the voices.

This year the Choir has appeared at Wilson College and Penn Hall, and March 10 had as their guests the Penn Hall Choir at the Academy Chapel vesper service.

FOOTBALL BAND

Mercersburg's football band, first organized in 1928, deserves much credit toward promoting school spirit at the games and "pep-rallies" during the football season. Under the able direction of Mr. Lucian C. Bareham, the faculty adviser, the band added zest and color to the school songs and cheers with its music on Saturday afternoons at the games. Great credit must go to Mr. Bareham and John Cavins for their organization of the group last fall so as to carry on the fine tradition of this vital activity.

thirty-yard pass to Left-End Steve Glary who was in the end zone. Walter Lissfelt missed the kick for the extra point. Midway in the second period fleetfooted Bill Massinger broke off-tackle and went thirty-five yards for Mercersburg's second score. Massinger displayed beautiful broken-field running on the way to that touchdown, and several times he wormed his way through would-be tacklers. Lissfelt made the conversion with a successful kick. In the waning moments of the game, Massanutten pushed their way over the Blue and White goal-line for their only tally of the day; the game ended with Mercersburg winning 13-6.

The second game was lost to Kiski, when Mercersburg played its first away game of the year. After one touchdown scored in the first period, there was a battle royal in the scoreless second period. Kiski scored twice again, once in each period of the second half. The thrill of the day was provided by Mercersburg, when Fullback Jim McDonald on a fake quick-kick, handed the ball to "speedmerchant" Walter Lissfelt, who scampered eighty yards for a touchdown. The final score was Kiski 19, Mercersburg 6.

Bedford played host to Mercersburg on October 19, but they were not the best of hosts, for they defeated the Blue and White 26-0. Several times the Mules almost scored; in the last quarter George Young at left end snagged a pass, and went all the way to the Bedford eight-yard line. Halfback Jim Tobey bulled and smashed his way to the six-inch line, when the game ended.

With one of their greatest teams, Valley Forge Military Academy downed the Academy team by a score of 20-0. The opponents made one score in the first half, and two in the second. The most effective play was Valley Forge's running-pass play, which scored two of their touchdowns.

On November 3, Mercersburg traveled to Toms River, N. J., where they played a scoreless game with Admiral Farragut Naval Academy. The most exciting play of the day was when Mercersburg's Gordon Post ran ninety-five yards on the opening kickoff, but he was tackled on the five-yard line, and after four tries the Blue and White failed to score. Left-End Sam Rogers made several terrific catches in the second half, but Mercersburg was never able to capitalize on any of their gains, even though they were in possession of the ball throughout the game.

The following week Mercersburg's old rivals, Staunton Military Academy, trounced the Mules by a score of 31-0. Ed Saeger and Art Sells played excellent defensive ball, when they on several occasions broke through the Staunton line and threw the ball carrier for a loss. In the third quarter Ed Thomas took a kick and ran it thirty-eight yards.

The last game was perhaps the most exciting of the year, because of the terrific goal-line stands the Mercersburg Mules staged on the home field. Although Kiski won by a score of 18-0, the game was really much closer than the score tells. Ed Saeger once again played a great game, along with the other guard, Bob Staley, and Tackle Doc Winters. Twice these three were directly responsible for smashing the Kiski offense when they were but a few yards from the goal-line.

Against great odds the team worked, but at the end of the season a fine spirit had been developed under Coaches Kuhn and Kempton.

Mercersburg's Jayvee football team played their first game against a rangy Patton Trade School team on October 13, which ended in a rousing victory for Mercersburg, the score being 18-0. Five days later the team traveled to Hanover where they fought hard against the opposing team. Here they had a better chance to show their power and in the end won easily by a score of 20-0. Keeping up their good record the Jayvees once again met the Hanover team for a re-engagement, this time on home soil, and won again with a score of 20-7.

Hampered by a wet field the Jayvees were slow in getting their running attack functioning and met their only defeat of the season by a score of 6-13 in favor of the Frederick Seneca's.

Nine days later the Jayvees made up for their previous defeat by meeting the Senecas again, this time at home, the game ending in a crushing defeat for Frederick of 26-0. Concluding their football the Jayvees held the powerful Scotland "11" to a scoreless tie on November 27.

This year found the team once again under the excellent coaching of Mr. Charles Hurst and captaincy of John A. Buck. The team, aided by fine material, played the fast, hard-hitting brand of football necessary to win games. The season ended with a tally of five victories and one defeat.

CHEERLEADERS

Guided and instructed by the tireless efforts of their faculty adviser, Mr. Lucian C. Bareham, the cheerleaders, headed by Joseph Calby, did a fine job at the "pep" rallies and home games of the past year. Through victory and defeat, the cheerleaders were responsible for the high spirit of the student body. By their excellent cheering they kept the school behind the team from the first minute of play until the last play of the game was completed.

Mercersburg's third team under the supervision of Coach Edwin W. Bailey out-charged and out-gained their opponents for a successful season with four victories, two ties, and one defeat.

The third team downed Hanover Junior High School 18-14 in the opening game, at Hanover on October 12. The second start resulted in a 7-7 deadlock with the Scotland Junior Varsity on October 19. The Blue and White lost their only game to a heavy Waynesboro Junior Varsity on October 22 by the close score of 7-6. In the following game, which took place on October 24, the gridmen steam-rolled the St. James School Junior Varsity by the score 32-0. The fifth game saw the third team eleven whip the Scotland Junior Varsity to the tune of 14-0 on November 9. On November 16 the third team again triumphed over the Hanover Junior High School by 13-0. The team then tied a heavy powerful Quincy Orphanage eleven 6-6 which was probably the stiffest opposition the third team encountered.

ARSHALS OF THE FIELD

Organized for the successful handling of home athletic contests, the Marshals of the Field were first formed in the fall of 1932. Dressed in white trousers and sweaters, and carrying the walnut canes symbolic of their office, this group handles the visitors as well as the visiting team in an efficient and courteous manner. The five fellows considered to have the most distinctive record during the school year will be awarded the permanent possession of their walnut canes in May.

Academy Cross Country team this fall had three meets, winning one, losing one, and taking second place in a triangular meet. The first meet of the season was the triangular meet between the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, which took first place with 29 points; the Mercersburg Academy, which took second place with 34 points, and the Baltimore City College, which took third with 61 points.

The second meet of the season was held at Annapolis where the powerful Plebe team defeated the Mercersburg Harriers by a score of 19 to 36. Captain Jonathan K. Woods, leading the Academy runners, took second place.

In the last meet of the season the Mercersburg runners defeated the Jeannette Harriers by a score of 23 to 32. Captain Woods and James T. Umbarger finished first in a dead heat.

Although hampered considerably by the sickness which caused the school to close in November, the Academy basketball team nevertheless managed to complete a very successful season, winning nine games out of a thirteen game schedule. Although composed mostly of inexperienced players, the team fast developed into a smooth and powerful combination, with Mare, Post, McDonald, Gregson, and Thomas setting the pace to victories. Numerous substitutes also contributed greatly to the fine record and it is certain that without them the season would not have been as successful as it was. Mr. Leonard A. Plantz as usual deserves the credit for developing the team into the excellent group that it proved to be. The co-captains for the year were Gordon Post and Edward Thomas. Below is the record of the season's encounters.

RESTLING

RICHARD D. LEMMERMAN	- - - - -	Captain
RICHARD C. HOFFMAN	- - - - -	Manager
FREDERICK R. KUHN	- - - - -	Coach

This year the Academy wrestling team, under the able direction of Coach Fredrick R. Kuhn, finished another successful season with a total of four victories out of the eight dual meets held. To climax this full season the team came in first at the Annual Preparatory School Wrestling Championship staged at Lehigh in March. This is the fourth successive year that the grapplers have won this meet.

The squad's record is one that reflects plenty of fight. Although defeated in their first contest by Lancaster 23 to 19, they rallied back by defeating Kiski, 24 to 14. Next came a downfall at the hands of the Bedford High School by a score of 17 to 11, but the Blue and White again retaliated by an outstanding victory over Waynesboro High School with a score of 32 to 3. After a set-back from Valley Forge, 16 to 11, and success over West York High School, 32 to 16, the team received its worst beating from the superior Navy Plebes, 23 to 11. The last meet was another decided victory over Kiski by a score of 27 to 6.

Two matmen, who helped make the season the success it was, were Paul S. Rogers, heavy-weight champion, and John R. Browning, winner of the 150-pound class.

GEORGE W. SEYMOUR, JR. - Captain

MR. HOWARD L. CANOUNE - Coach
MR. ERNEST A. STALEY AND MR. F. LAMAR CLARK - Assistant Coaches

Under the captaincy of George W. Seymour, Jr., the swimming team won three of six meets and took sixth place in the Interscholastics at Trenton, New Jersey, on March 9. The defeat of the William Penn H. S. of York in the Academy pool on January 15 by a score of 35-31 marked the opening of the official season. The team then suffered two defeats in succession when on February 2 the Mercersburg team traveled to Annapolis to be reversed by a powerful Navy Plebe team 37-29, and three days later William Penn of York, in a return-meet at York, downed the home team 35-31.

On February 9 the Mercersburg team, in their own pool, defeated the Baltimore Polytechnic School in a thrilling meet by the score of 34-32. Mercersburg next encountered the Valley Forge Military Academy in the former's pool and overpowered Valley Forge 44-22. The season ended with a defeat at Staunton Military Academy, on March 2, 41-25.

The team was sparked by the splendid performances of Preston, Saeger, and Braham. Many others accounted for their share in points won, and to each member of the team and coaching staff must go due credit for hard work and dependable performances in a difficult schedule with an inexperienced team.

The Mercersburg Academy baseball team, this year opened its season against the York Junior College on April 5. The game was played on the Academy diamond, and the home team was victorious by the one-sided score of 5 to 0. The next game was perhaps the most outstanding of the whole season, for on April 9 the team was able to schedule a game with the Philadelphia Athletics, who were just returning from their spring training in Florida. Although the home team was defeated by a score of 12 to 1, it provided them with valuable experience, and enabled the whole school to watch a big league team in action.

At the time the KARUX went to press, the following games remained to be played:

April 12—Altoona High School.
April 13—Loyola High School.
April 17—Valley Forge Military Academy.
April 20—Western High School.
April 27—Baltimore City College High School.

May 4—Navy Plebes.

Mercersburg's varsity tennis team opened its 1946 campaign on April 20, when they met the Woodberry Forest team on the home courts. Since the KARUX went to press before the playing of the six scheduled matches, the results are not here printed.

Coach Norris W. Grabill and his team during the course of the spring season will meet many of the outstanding teams of the district. The highlight will be when the Blue and White netmen will meet the Navy Plebes at Annapolis, Maryland.

The 1946 schedule follows:

Saturday, April 20—Woodberry Forest.

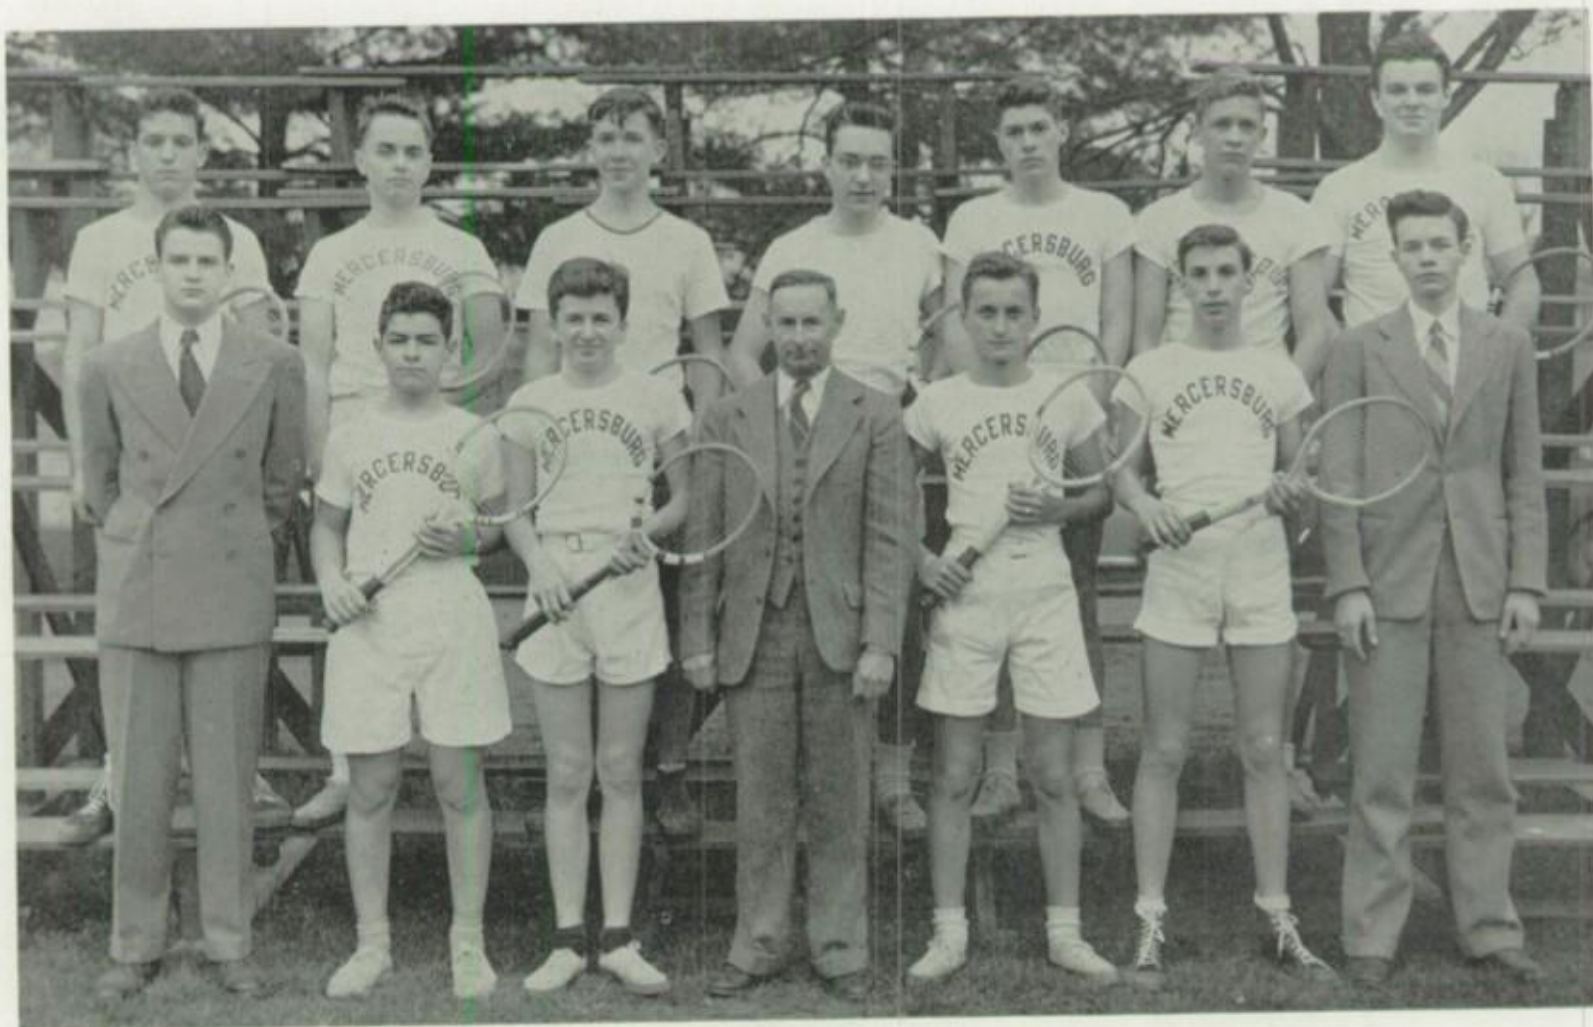

Wednesday, April 24—Valley Forge Military Academy.

Saturday, April 27—William Penn High School.

Saturday, May 4—Baltimore City College High School.

Saturday, May 11—Navy Plebes.

Wednesday, May 15—Massanutten Military Academy.

Second Row—Feller, Stanahan, Strode, Barton, Stark, Dyne, Mulford.

 MR. JAMES M. CURRAN - Coach

Mercersburg Academy track team successfully opened its 1946 season by annexing the National Preparatory School Championship at Madison Square Garden, February 23. This is the second time that venerable, "Jimmie" Curran's fleet-footed runners have won this much-coveted championship in the last three years. Although they only captured one first place, they combined numerous second and third places to outscore runner-up, Seton Hall, by three points. In two indoor meets at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, the mile-relay team captured a close second in each meet.

The schedule for the 1946 spring season follows:

April 16—Baltimore Polytechnic Institute.
 April 27—Penn Relays.
 May 4—Valley Forge Military Academy.
 May 11—Naval Academy Plebes.
 May 19—"C" Club meet.

WAR DAYS AT MERCERSBURG

Suddenly over the countryside on August 14, 1945 sounded the Academy carillon, the steady blast of the heating plant whistle, and the tumultuous screaming of automobile horns. The hour of victory over the Japanese had arrived. Boys of the summer session poured out of Main Hall and South Cottage and started for the Chapel. The Head Master unlocked the great doors of the nave, and quietly the youth of Mercersburg passed in to offer a silent prayer of thanksgiving that the dawn of peace was at hand. A new era was about to begin, and the days of uncertainty, of challenge, of sorrow, and of joy were over, and youth looked forward to more normal days of peace.

The story of Mercersburg Academy since December 7, 1941, when the Japs ruthlessly attacked Pearl Harbor and other American outposts in the Pacific, is in a sense the story of any preparatory school in the United States. It is the story of the sacrifices of all who have always held high the challenge, the opportunity, the bulwarks of America. In the armed services of the country went 2,411 alumni and members of the student body. For the safety of future generations 74 paid the supreme sacrifice besides the seven still reported as missing. That they should not have served and died in vain a new generation was challenged September 20, 1945 by the Head Master, when school opened for the fall term, that each should build aright a new era of greatness for this school and state and nation.

With the passing of the Selective Service Act prior to America's entrance into the war, schools of America had their troubles with enrollment. Lack of uniform interpretation of government directives by the different draft boards brought as many problems to the Head Master as there were eligible boys for the draft in the Academy. Dr. Tippetts carried on correspondence with well over an hundred draft boards. In handling the cases of boys in the school who had to register and go through the physical examinations, Mr. Daniel Heefner, Alumni Secretary, was appointed by the local draft board. Struggle of youth to determine what steps to take, desire of parent and boy and school to play the partnership with government above reproach, the navy, air corps, and army programs of enlistment for advanced training and college placement presented the thousand and one problems for the Administration faced with the necessity of maintaining an enrollment sufficient to keep going. Except for a period in 1943-1944 when so many older boys were called to meet increased military requirements, Mercersburg's enrollment steadily increased to a full school in the fall of 1944. Opportunity through summer session made possible acceleration of over 100 who were graduated one or two years earlier—a record unsurpassed by any other school as far as it has been able to ascertain. That Mercersburg continues a strong, vital, "going" school when so many others were forced to close, tells in part the "sweat and toil," the anxiety and determination of Dr. and Mrs. Tippetts, the members of the faculty, the Board and the whole staff to carry on.

Some of the faculty were drafted prior to Pearl Harbor. In 1941 three entered the services; in 1942, 14; in 1944, 2; in 1945, 1—a total of 20. Of these John S. S. Pierson gave his life at the time of the break-through in Belgium, December 25, 1944. At the close of the winter term of this school year three have already returned, namely, Lieutenant-Commander Herbert M. Kempton, Private Bryan Barker, and Private Pratt L. Tobey. New members entered the faculty, and most remarkably Mercersburg, unlike so many, was fortunate during the war days in adding to her teaching staff men of high scholarship and great teaching ability. The faculty did not lower standards, and boys entering college were ready. Evidence of the solid background and training at Mercersburg is seen in the large number of the 2,411 who were in the services who became officers. Of the total of 1,195 Mercersburg officers, 728 were in the army, 429 were in the navy, and 38 were in the marine corps.

Coupled with regular classroom duties, all members of the faculty assumed their share of war-time demands. Helping to man the observation post on the top of the tower of 'Eighty-eight Dormitory, direction of the post by Mr. Grey Wyman, acting as local Chief Air Raid Warden and chairman of five War Loan Drives by Mr. David F. Chapman, chairmanship of the Red Cross drives by Mr. James W. Moyer, directorship of the First Aid Stations by Dr. Lewis H. Hitzrot, active participation by members of the faculty and wives in all of these are but a few of the many keyspots covered by the Academy faculty who were not under arms. Many also carried the extra-teaching load over and beyond that of regular classes which were increased in size in the work of preparing the marines, navy and air-corps reserves stationed on the campus.

At one time in the early days of the war the army was considering the taking-over of the Academy plant for their program. The inspection by army officers and preliminary warning to be ready to vacate caused another headache for the Administration. Finally through Dr. Alfred E. Stearns and Dr. Joel T. Boone of The Board of Regents contact was established with Secretary of War Stimson who assured Dr. Tippetts that such action would not be taken.

Beginning in 1942 the Academy did in part serve the services directly when 22 marines of the Marine Aviation Detachment under the auspices of the Civil Aeronautics Administration appeared on the campus Sunday, November 15, 1942. This group was co-ordinated by Mr. Robert M. Goff and commanded by Lieutenant Salvatore La Rosa, head of military instruction. It was the first of its kind in the preparatory schools of the east, Mercersburg being one of six schools in the United States to train service men for the Marine Glider Pilot Service. The purpose of this course was to prepare the trainees, both mentally and physically, for the intensive pilot training in more advanced flight courses and to develop proficiency in technique in conjunction with elementary flight training.

Teachers of the Academy participated in the program. Among these were Mr. Wilmarth I. Jacobs, Assistant Head Master, who taught physics; Mr. David F. Chapman, who was in charge of civil air regulations; Mr. Preston F. Amspacher, who instructed the marines in code, general servicing and operation of aircraft, theory of flight and aircraft, and aircraft and engine operations; and Mr. Roger W. Smith, instructor in navigation and meteorology. Others were Mr. John R. Kelly, the instructor in mathematics, and Mr. John Lieb, who assisted Lieutenant La Rosa in physical training and teaching the marines aircraft identification. Other masters were certified by the C. A. A. for any additional expansion which might arise.

This roster of men did not spend all their time on the campus. Before the students of Mercersburg were aroused from their beds by the early morning bell, the service men departed for the Hagerstown Airport to take their ground training and preparation for soloing; later they returned to the Academy for ground school work under the faculty. It was on December 10 that the first marine was cheered in Keil Hall for being the first to make his solo flight.

On Saturday mornings a gathering of the boys of the Academy could be easily discovered on the outskirts of Laucks Hall, watching these men drill, march past in review. At the end of each day a crowd would gather on the steps of Keil Hall to observe the platoon march from 'Eighty-eight Dormitory, the quarters of the detachment, to dinner in Keil Hall. 'Eighty-eight Dormitory was at all times the center of the services located at Mercersburg, and generally it took on the appearances of a barracks with classes held in the rooms along the corridor of "George Washington Hall."

On returning from the Christmas vacation the boys found the first group of marines had been increased to 40. According to the plan a group of 40 remained at the school constantly, but at the half-way mark of every eight weeks half of the group was replaced with new men. A further change was made March 12, 1943, with the arrival of twenty aviation cadets of the U. S. N. R., V-5 program, for an eight-week preliminary training. These were stationed in Colonial Cottage. Changes were also made in the teaching personnel. Later some army reserve fliers were here for further instruction.

Manpower, supplies and rationing proved great worries for all during the war-days. Scarcity of help was due in no small part to the higher wages paid at Hagerstown and Waynesboro warplants, and at the ammunition depot at Letterkenny. Boys took over at first the bed-making; then later the main care of their rooms. Working boys cleaned the classrooms and assisted on the grounds—in fact the whole school family took up new and additional duties in the stride of the war days. Mr. Joseph Funk, Superintendent of Grounds, was able to hold all key men except in the plumbing department, and for this position he was fortunate in obtaining a capable man. Normally 50 men make up the force under him, but on the average only 24 were on the job of a wartime payroll of 30.

The presence of the military and navy personnel helped to overcome in part the scarcity of supplies and material, as military and naval priority could be obtained. The coal situation in 1942-1943 was the most difficult, for at times less than a truck load was in the pile at the power plant. Deep snow would have presented the impossible. The shortage of help at the mines, the enforced rationing of coal by the mine-operators, and the constant changing of help at the power plant caused no end of worry. Many a time masters and boys shoveled coal to keep the fires burning.

Mr. James Walker as Steward, and Mrs. W. I. Jacobs as Dietitian were forced to improvise time and time again. Planned menus were never completely carried out due to food scarcity, poor transportation, and rationing changes. The kitchen also faced the inability to obtain utensils and supplies, and here again substitution was necessary as in the department of Mr. Funk. Improvising of needed parts through the co-operation of the Vulcan Machine Company of Waynesboro saved the day, as each week some additional substitute part was needed. Many things regularly done had to be passed up. As an example, the school regularly painted inside and out two out of the 20 buildings a year. For five years only such painting as was absolutely necessary could be done. The days ahead this summer call for greater activity as post-war period makes needed supplies, paints, pipes, etc., available.

Today Mercersburg Academy is a stronger school for the challenge of war. Returning faculty men, a full school, the change in selective service requirements, and the greater availability of supplies have lessened the physical and mental strain of war. The spirit of the school, the leadership of the Head Master and faculty, and the war record of the alumni gave to the Academy traditions an added luster of a deed well done.

SUMMER SESSION

In order to accelerate college preparation for boys threatened by army induction due to the war, the Mercersburg Academy held its third summer session in its history from June to August, 1945. Enrollment for last summer's scholastic activities was over one hundred, and in all but five cases, summer seniors were able to enter college in the fall. Three boys, because of their outstanding abilities in leadership and other abilities, were appointed to the summer session Senate by Dr. Tippetts. These boys were John W. Colston, president of the graduating class, William S. Hansen, and Walton A. Smith, Jr.

Throughout the summer months, Assembly was held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, while Chapel Services were held at various times, with the Complin Service being held the night before commencement, when Mr. James G. Moyer addressed the graduating class.

Mrs. Tippetts Presenting Four-Leaf Clovers

On the morning of graduation the Seniors, led by Dr. Tippetts and John W. Colston, class president, marched from the porch of North Cottage to that section of lawn lying between Main Hall and the Head Master's house, where the Commencement Exercises were held. Present were many guests as well as members of the faculty. This year John W. Colston and William S. Hansen were elected to the Cum Laude Society because of outstanding scholastic abilities. Mr. David F. Chapman, president of the local chapter, and Dr. Lewis H. Hitzrot, secretary, conducted the initiation, which was followed by a brief address to the class by Dr. Tippetts, and the award of diplomas, in which Mr. James G. Miller, registrar, assisted the Head Master. Following these exercises Mrs. Tippetts was the gracious hostess to the class and their guests at a luncheon.

FALL OPENING

Mercersburg opened with the exercises in the Chapel September 19 when Dr. Tippetts challenged the new school for the year to seek "common ground of understanding, patience and intelligence which will be needed in the years to come." He stated in the hands of the 420 boys rested the leadership of the years ahead as it rests in the hands of those of their generation now entering the new school year throughout America and the world to build so that another war will be impossible. For the first time in five years, youth was thinking not of war, but of peace, and no one dared to miss the opportunity to build for peace, as the generation after the last war missed.

Dr. Tippetts stated that 26 states and six foreign nations and United States' dependencies are represented in the school this year, and of these 41 fellows are sons of former Mercersburg boys or faculty members. The school was again filled to full capacity, with a large number of applicants turned away during the closing weeks of the summer.

Three new masters joined the faculty, namely—Mr. Paul Anderson, in the Mathematics Department, Mr. Ralph Klinefelter in the Latin Department, and Mr. Wirt Faust in the English Department. Mr. Herbert M. Kempon, who served as Lieutenant Commander in the Navy during the war, returned to the faculty as associate football coach and as a member of the French Department.

FIELD DAY

This year, as in fifty-two preceding years, the fall program was highlighted by the annual Field Day, held Saturday, October 26. A large crowd of parents and friends of the boys were present during the day to witness the eleven track events in which over 150 boys participated. With the war over, the day had a more festive air than it had previous years during the war. This would have been confirmed by anyone who had viewed the early morning initiations when the new boy lost his familiar black tie and socks.

60 Yard Dash on Field Day

There were seven entries for the Williams Cup, which is one of the most coveted and honored prizes the school awards. Out of these seven contestants came Peter Schaper who won the cup with 25 points. Tying for second place were Michael DeArmond, who competed for last year's cup and James Umbarger, a new boy, with 17 points each.

Other winners for the day included: Richard Wolfenden in the 60-yard dash; Charles Moore in the 100-yard dash; Alexander Cavins in the 300-yard run; Jonathan Woods in the one-mile run; Charles Moore in the 120-yard low hurdles; Frank Parish in the shot put; Hays Glover in the javelin throw; Paul Newton in the pole vault; Robert Jones in the running broad jump; Thomas Gardner in the high jump; and Donald Colbert in the discus throw. Also during the day the fall tennis tournament was played off by a doubles match with Douglas Dyne and Louis Furniss as a team taking first place. Before this, however, Joseph Strode had won the singles of the tournament.

During the afternoon a buffet luncheon in Keil Hall was enjoyed by all, and in the evening the Williams Cup, the tennis Cups and other awards were presented. Then a movie finished another successful Field Day. After the luncheon the members of the faculty were in Traylor Hall for consultation by those parents desirous of discussing their sons' class-room work.

Dr. Charles R. Erdman, of Princeton, N. J., was the guest preacher the next day in the chapel.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC

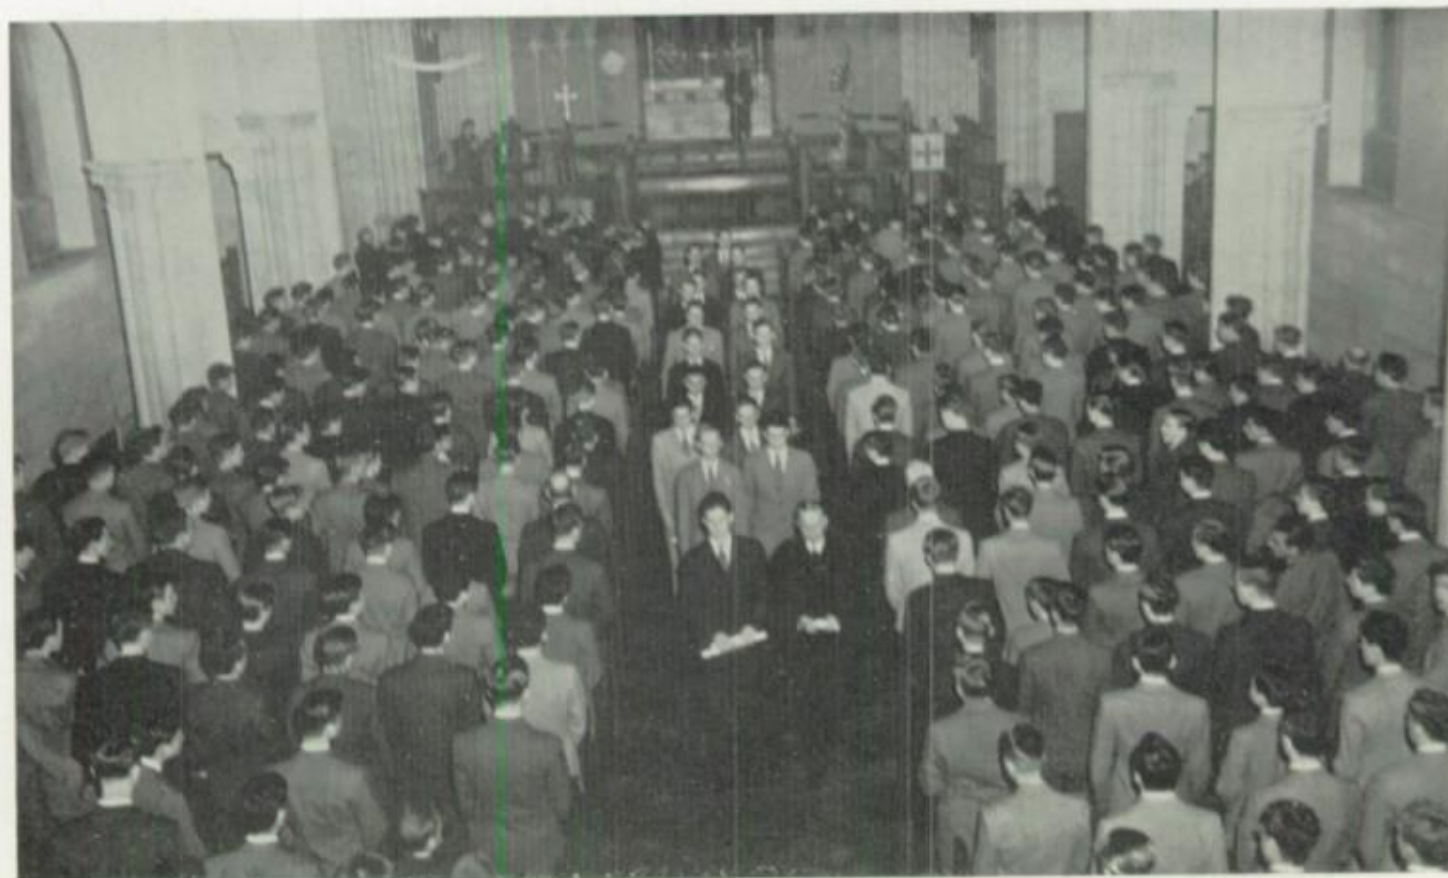

Christmas plans were rapidly taking form at the end of November when the "flu" hit the members of the student body. With steady increase of cases to seventy patients in the Infirmary office on Thursday, November 29, and the inability to obtain additional nurses to assist the overworked staff, Dr. Tippetts on the advice of Dr. Hitzrot, the Academy physician, announced the early closing of school at

Sudden Departure on November 30

Assembly Friday morning, November 30. In light of the fact that nearly two hundred were ill after returning home and the increase of the epidemic in the neighboring towns and the inability of schools which stayed open to continue, for they had to close later because of the rapid increase where closing action was not taken, the steps of the Head Master were warmly praised by school authorities and parents of the student body.

As a result of this change the regular Christmas events scheduled were omitted entirely. In some cases special attention was given to Graduation Exercises in January to compensate for the omission of Christmas activities. School reopened on January 3, 1946.

January Seniors With Diplomas-in-Hand

JANUARY COMMENCEMENT

January Commencement Exercises were held in the Academy Chapel on Monday, January 28, at 10:00 A. M., when eighteen members of the student body received the Academy diploma from Dr. Tippetts. Kimball Williams, president of the class, gave as his Salutatorian Address "The Rise of the Labor Unions," and Richard Smith, the Valedictorian, gave "Sharing the Atomic Bomb." The two other speakers spoke as follows: George Osborn—"Isolation or International Co-operation," and Roger Gross—"Will America Fight Russia?"

The seniors were guests at dinner at North Cottage on Saturday night. Their baccalaureate was given by Mr. James W. Moyer. After the final coffee pouring for guests and seniors at North, Sunday evening, the Complin Service was held in the Chapel.

MID-WINTER WEEKEND

Mid-Winter Week-end celebration, from February 21 to 24 inclusive, reached its climax with the annual debate between the Washington Irving and the John Marshall Literary Societies. Events began on Thursday night, February 21, with the Stony Batter Dramatic Club's fine production of Jane Austin's Pride and Prejudice, under the able direction of Mr. Pratt L. Tobey. Edgar P. Cardwell, Jr., as "Mrs. Bennet," and Gordon A. Evans as "Elizabeth Bennet" easily carried off the laurels of the evening.

The next day found the Mercersburg wrestling team victorious over their rivals from Kiski by the score of 27 to 6, while the basketball team won from Kiski by the score of 35 to 30.

That evening Dr. and Mrs. Tippetts assisted by Alfred G. Hemmerich and James B. Frizzell, Co-Chairmen of the Dance Committee, received couples in Keil Hall for the formal Mid-Winter Dance. For a time the measles threatened to force cancellation of the festivities, as nearby schools were unwilling to allow their girls to attend. The dance was finally attended by seventy couples, with "Red" MacCarthy and his orchestra furnishing the music.

On Saturday, February 23, the Marshall swimming team "sank" the Irving swimmers by a score of 31-26, and the basketball game was won by the men of Irving, when they defeated the Marshall cagers by a score of 31 to 23.

Mid-Winter Formal

That night the Fifty-second Annual Debate was held in the Carl Lewis Nolde Memorial Gymnasium, bringing the climax to the spirit and rivalry existing between the two societies. Irving broke the existing deadlock of 22 to 22 wins by defeating their opponents with a Negative team consisting of Robert P. Stranahan, Thomas G. Roulette, John A. May, Jr., and Charles H. Trepel. Marshall's Affirmative team was composed of Richard M. Woodcock, R. Kenneth Perry, Thomas G. McLellan, Jr., and William L. Kanenson. The subject of debate was "Resolved: That the United States should require one year of military training of all males between the ages of 18 and 21." The Best Speaker for the evening was Robert P. Stranahan.

The next day Dr. Tippetts spoke at the Chapel Services on "George Washington." He emphasized the challenge of Washington's youth to young men of today. By supper time the last automobile had gone out of the "Valley" and Mercersburg turned to bells, books, and the next day's assignments.

Ice Mfg. & Delivery

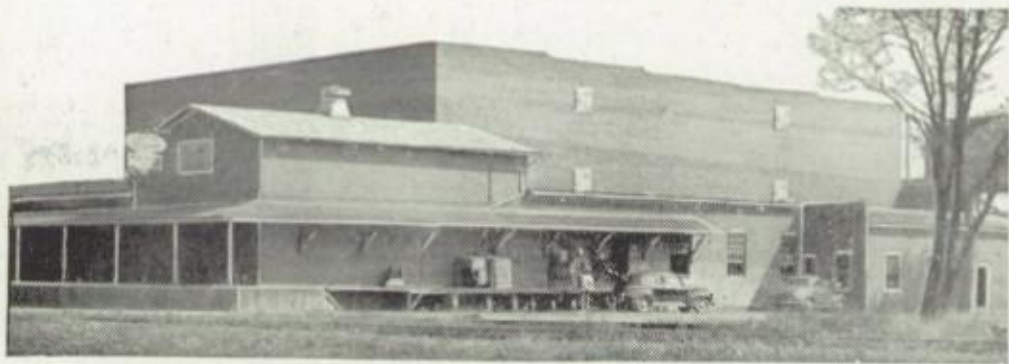

Fruit Packing & Storage

Freezer Storage

Frozen Food Lockers

How this plant serves a town of 2500 as a Community Refrigeration Center

An ice plant of only 10 tons capacity a few years ago, the Greencastle (Pa.) Ice and Cold Storage now handles up to 80 tons daily, sells ice refrigerators, supplies farmers with ice for cooling milk, chills 600 tons of cherries in ice water before pitting, ices many refrigerator cars.

It stores 100,000 bushels of apples, and freezes big hogsheads of peaches and berries, all from its own packing house.

Meats, poultry, vegetables, and cream are frozen and stored. Twelve hundred refrigerated lockers are rented. Fresh-killed calves and sheep (4000 per month) are chilled before being shipped.

The ice cream bar sells lunches; a cold room serves as a milk substation; beer was formerly handled at wholesale.

We believe every progressive town can profit, in the postwar world, from a COMMUNITY REFRIGERATION CENTER. You are welcome to make use of the consulting-engineering service and equipment we offer for this program.

The Academy Hymn

Jesus, I live to Thee
The loveliest and best;
My life in Thee, Thy life in me,
In Thy blest love I rest.

Jesus, I die to Thee,
Whenever death shall come;
To die in Thee is life to me
In my eternal home.

Whether to live or die,
I know not which is best;
To live in Thee is bliss to me,
To die is endless rest.

Living or dying Lord,
I ask but to be Thine;
My life in Thee, Thy life in me,
Makes heaven forever mine.
